The Lifestyle of Authentic Leadership

What makes a leader great? Is it intellect or integrity, skill or savvy? Great leaders are defined by a sense of purpose and integrate their unique strengths, values and life experiences with learned essential leadership skills. In this presentation, you will learn the key ingredients of authentic leadership and begin to discover your own leadership purpose.

Dynamic Communication: Increasing Communication Through Understanding Behaviors

Achievers throughout history have one thing in common—they know themselves. By understanding themselves, they are able to develop plans to overcome their shortcomings and take full advantage of their strengths to improve their communication with others. Based on the DISC behavioral model, this presentation is designed to help people win and achieve a greater degree of success in life and work.

Your Attitude Is Showing: Increasing Communication Through Understanding Attitudes

On a fairly frequent basis, when dealing with others most people face “differences of opinion” or “ethical dilemmas” that are simply conflicts of values between themselves and another individual or group. These conflicts can’t be avoided, but they can be minimized by understanding how to clearly see others’ points of view. This presentation will focus on helping you clearly see how you view the world and understand how to look at the world through someone else’s eyes.

The Power in Planning

How focused are you? Do you ever have difficulty turning great ideas into action? Statistics say that every 1 minute spent in planning saves up to 10 minutes in execution. In this interactive presentation, you will not only learn the benefits to goal setting and strategic planning but will work through a process designed to help you develop your own focused strategic plan to achieve your goals.

NOTE: All presentations can be customized to fit the needs of your group.
